Salt Lake City School District Library Resource Selection and Use

The Library Learning Centers in the Salt Lake City School District exist to provide informational resources for teachers and students, assist students in developing literacy and research skills, and offer recreational reading opportunities. Our goal is to have a current, engaging, relevant, and diverse collection that provide information on a wide variety of topics geared to the ages of our students. When selecting books, we consider the needs of the core curriculum and the interests of our students. We strive to keep current informational materials and recreational reading titles as our budgets allow.

Parents are encouraged to take an active interest in their child’s reading materials. They should have discussions with their child about what is, and what is not, appropriate for their child. Our library serves a broad age and interest range. Parents and students should realize that not every book in the library will be appropriate for each child in the school. If a parent feels that title is not appropriate for their child, she or he is encouraged to return it to the library as soon as possible and select a book that is a better fit. The Library Technology Teacher is happy to help your child find an appropriate book that meets his or her interests.
Library Class Description

Students in grades PreK- 6 visit the library for weekly lessons. During weekly lessons, students learn technology skills, library and information skills. Students are exposed to a variety of children’s literature that will foster a love reading.

Library Goals and Objectives

SLCSD Library Fine Procedures

One purpose of the SCLSD Library Learning Centers is to promote independent reading in all students. Books are selected to reflect the needs and interests of all students at a school site. Much like textbooks, access to library books is a critical part of a students’ instructional experience. Independent reading supports the development of fluency at all levels of reading.

Late Fees

1. SLCSD does not charge late fees for books.

2. Libraries can limit the number of books students can check out until a book is returned or declared lost.

Lost Books

1. Students must have options for paying off fines for lost books.

   a. Students can make payments at the school for a lost book. The cost should reflect only the price of the book, not additional processing fees. A cap should be set for the cost of replacement for books that are more than $20.

   b. Libraries can set alternative methods for reducing fines. These can include:

      i. Reading off fines.

      ii. Working off fines.
iii. Using points from school-based behavior systems to pay off fines.

c. All options should be communicated to parents when “lost book” notices are sent home. All alternative methods should be reasonably quantified in terms of time.

d. Students who choose an alternative method will not be penalized in any other way.

2. Students who lose a book and are homeless, moved to foster care, or have had other traumatic live experiences will have their fees immediately canceled.

3. If a student has lost an excessive number of books (3+ in a school year), the librarian and administrator should discuss this situation with the parents/guardian of the student to create a plan for ongoing check out. This could include periods of time when books are kept at school only, etc.

4. Other instances of consequence should be discussed with the site administrator and/or district library supervisor.

SLCSD acknowledges that library budgets are finite; however, we also acknowledge the need for students and families to have the opportunity to read books of interest to them. This is the balancing act we face as an education system.
